

Dear Cornflowers and Parents

I hope you are all well. Thank you all for your efforts with the work I have set.

I loved looking at all your spring pictures and the different approaches you took.

I have just found out that some of your Purple Mash tasks from a few weeks back have not been marked - it's not because I didn't look for them it's just because I'm still learning how to use all the teacher facilities and navigate round the site, so sorry if I have missed anything.

The spelling quizzes seem to work well, so I will keep setting them. If you get any wrong, please make sure you learn them just as you would in your homework book.

Keep checking Purple Mash and the class pages as I will continue to post things on there.

Take care.

Mr D
