

Tuesday 5th May

Today you are going to invent your own game. Consider different details, such as the objective of the game, how to score, the number of players required and what equipment you will need.

Some examples below

Writing activity

Create and write rules for your game and illustrate each instruction with a clear diagram. Think of a catchy, fun name for your game and orally explain the rules of your game to players. Now play the game. Do any rules need to be improved or altered?

You could write your instructions –

First, collect ...

Then, roll ...

After that, pass

After everyone has had one go, throw ...
